

EXECUTIVE LEADERSHIP OF CYBERSECURITY

NOVEMBER 17, 2015 ~ COLUMBUS, OHIO

The Ohio Division of Financial Institutions along with the West Virginia Division of Financial institutions and the Conference of State Banking Supervisors are sponsoring an Executive Leadership of Cybersecurity (ELOC) seminar.

ELOC is designed for bank CEOs and senior executives that addresses the issue of cybersecurity within the financial services industry. The program provides a non-technical overview of current and anticipated cyber threats to the financial services industry, shares cyber intelligence resources that are available and offers best practices the industry should use to mitigate and manage evolving cyber threats.

Speakers for the event include representatives from the U.S. Secret Service, the FFIEC, and FS-ISAC.
